Friday-Close Checks -- Scorecard (set up in the Aug 30 memo)

Check	Threshold	Fri Aug 28 close	Mon Aug 31 intraday	Verdict
INTC new low / reclaim 95	<89.47 or >95	89.47 -- pinned exactly at the low	89.96 (+0.5%)	NEITHER -- pinned at lows; trim-into-95/100
GEV psych break 900	<900 close	911.93 -- held Friday	892.53 -- BELOW 900 live	BREAK IN PROGRESS -- if it closes here, we're in
TEM hold 60	>60	64.04 -- held	60.81 -- AT the line	LOW-60s RETEST LIVE -- the light-trim could work
MU vs 910 (Aug 24 low)	hold >910	932.86 -- held	946.70 (+1.5%)	SPONSOR test PASSED again -- clean break

One-line read: Friday answered nothing (all four pinned); Monday morning is delivering the resolutions live -- GEV breaking 900, TEM testing 60 down, MU bouncing, INTC still dead at the lows.

Market Regime (SPY)

- SPY 765.80 (Mon intraday) vs 769.35 Friday -- -0.46% today; +2.5% from Jul 31; -1.6% off the Aug 13 high (777.88). Month-end Monday tape, mildly red.
- Bifurcated tape: mega-cap tech red (AMZN -2.0%, GOOGL -2.0%) while memory/semis green (MU +1.5%, SNDK +2.7%, TSM +1.1%, AMD +1.0%) and energy stronger (VDE +1.9%, XOP +1.3%, BG +1.9%, VG +3.5%, SHEL +1.4%). Rotation INTO the machine-memory + energy complex, OUT of the AI-mega-caps -- watch whether this is day-one noise or an early rotation flag for the AMZN/GOOGL cluster.
- TSLA +3.4% off the 348.75 Friday close -- first green week-start in a while; still -18.7% vs cost.

A. Long-Term Hold Recommendations

CEG	1.02%	Point72, Coatue, SIT	276.75	277.08 +0.1%	-10.0%	2.78%	CORE HOLD -- within 2% of high	HIGH
GEV	0.54%	Point72, Coatue, SIT	911.93	892.53 -- below 900	-17.9%	2.99%	CORE HOLD -- [!] 900 BREAKING	HIGH

Analysis:

- Sponsor A/B test keeps resolving in MU's favor. Off the shared Aug 17 peak: MU -6.4% (and +1.5% green Monday), SNDK -14.6% (bouncing +2.7% Monday), STX -17.3% (flat Monday). Same memory complex, three outcomes sorted by sponsorship: MU (3 managers) > SNDK/STX (momentum-only). The Aug 30 rule -- trim the unsponsored momentum names, hold the sponsored one -- has now been validated for a full month.

- [!] GEV: the 900 psych level is breaking intraday Monday (892.53). Friday held 911.93; today is a -2.1% session against a green-in-semis tape -- that is name-specific, not sector. GEV is now -17.3% off its Aug 17 peak while CEG sits -1.9% off its high. The divergence has fully resolved to GEV's detriment. Standing instruction unchanged: HOLD, DO NOT ADD; the exit signal completes only when Q3 13Fs (Nov 16) show a Point72/Coatue cut. If GEV closes below 900 today, treat 892 as the new trailing level, not a doubling-down level.

- AMZN/GOOGL Monday softness: both -2% on a green-semis morning. No strategist exits known (13Fs static). AMZN is the single largest conviction position (12.79% combined) -- a red Monday in the mega-cap cluster is a watch item, not a signal. Two consecutive down Mondays would upgrade it.

Key Readings

1. SI is a static dataset right now -- say it plainly. Every one of the 37 names matches the Aug 27 pull to the decimal (small DTC rounding only). The Aug 29 settlement has not been published to Finviz yet; next run (Sep 1-2) should carry the fresh numbers. No new shorts-in-force, no new squeeze fuel until then.

2. TEM is the live case study: the Catalyst-Gated Squeeze rule on the exit side. 27.8% SI, catalyst 10+ days spent, +47% squeeze fully in the book's P&L (+18.5% vs cost, +37.3% since Jul 31). Monday's -5.0% session took it to 60.81 -- the low-60s retest. Per the Aug 30 memo: light trim here is disciplined, not fearful. Trail: below 60.

3. GEV 900 break is the short-side confirmation of the divergence thesis -- the same datacenter-power theme where CEG holds its high. No action beyond the standing hold-no-add; the Nov 16 13F check adjudicates the exit.
4. U (Unity) profiled for the first time on the SI ledger: 8.66% / 3.29 DTC at +52.5% vs cost (+27.2% since Jul 31, 0.72% weight). Winner with moderate borrow crowding -- no squeeze either way needed to explain it; fundamentals/momentum did the work. Add to standard watchlist.
5. No crowded-short risk anywhere in the conviction cluster. Unchanged across every pull this month.

C. Signal Validation & Money Flow

Tepper Exit Reversal (INTC) -- live, n=2, 75% confidence

- Aug 17 signal $103.49 Fri close $89.47 = -13.5% in 11 days. Friday did not print a new low (89.47 = Thursday's close exactly) and did not reclaim 95 (Monday: ~90). The pattern's next leg per playbook: either the low-volume drift continues or the 87.26 line breaks. Plan unchanged: trim 1/3 into any $95-100 bounce; hard trail below 87.26.

GEV/CEG Divergence -- RESOLVED TO GEV'S DETRIMENT

- CEG Friday 276.75 / Monday 277.08 -- within 2% of its 1mo high all month.
 - GEV Friday 911.93 Monday 892.53, through the 900 psych level. -17.3% off the Aug 17 peak; -17.9% vs cost on a 0.54% position.
 - This is now a confirmed five-week trend, not noise. Name-specific rot inside the AI-power theme (VRT and SEI corroborate). Action locked: hold, no adds, trail 892; exit signal completes on a Q3 13F GEV cut (Nov 16).

Catalyst-Gated Squeeze (RULED n=2) -- no new sparks anywhere

- Fresh specific positive catalysts in the book: none. TEM's catalyst is 10+ days spent and the price is finally paying for it (60.81). CORZ (16.25) and CIFR (14.92) keep grinding lower into round-trip territory. RXXR remains a flat 37%-SI coiled spring with no spark. The rule has now prevented entry into what would have been five separate losing trades this month.

Money Flow / Rotation Notes (Q2 13Fs static until Nov 16)

- Strategist alignment unchanged: AI-Infra (CEG, GEV, SPOT) + AI/Semis (AMZN, GOOGL, TSM, MU, NFLX) + TSLA-adjacent (SIT/Coatue historically).
 - Monday's rotation texture: money flowing OUT of mega-cap AI (AMZN -2%, GOOGL -2%) INTO memory/semi (MU +1.5%, SNDK +2.7%, TSM +1.1%) and energy (VDE, XOP, BG, VG all green). One session means little; two consecutive Mondays of the same signature = a rotation flag on the conviction cluster's largest holdings.
 - Next 13F checkpoint: Q3 filings due Nov 16, 2026. Watch: (1) Point72 keeps/dumps INTC, (2) GEV exit (completes the exit signal), (3) new joins on CEG, (4) D1/Coatue SPOT reduction.

D. Strategy Playbook

Active Strategies

1. Multi-Manager Conviction -- ACTIVE, month-long validation running hot
 - List: AMZN, GOOGL, SPOT, TSM, CEG, GEV, NFLX, MU.
 - September watch: AMZN and GOOGL had their first soft session (Mon -2%) -- if the mega-cap cluster softens while the memory complex runs, the cluster's beta is rotating internally, not breaking.
2. Tepper Exit Reversal -- VALIDATED x2 (75%); INTC plan on rails
 - Trim 1/3 into $95-100; trail below $87.26. No Friday or Monday trigger fired; position +97.0% vs cost.

3. Catalyst-Gated Squeeze -- RULED; zero entries and zero candidates

- TEM low-60s trim zone live (trail below 60 after). RXRX/SEI/CORZ/CIFR/WULF all validate the no-entry side again.

4. Tactical-Sleeve Cap -- IN FORCE

- Miner sleeve since Jul 31: CLSK -21.5%, CIFR -34.1%, CORZ -25.5%, APLD -10.3%, WULF -15.3%, RIOT -16.7%, HUT -27.7%. Cap stands; recycle into conviction names on dips per rule.

5. Concentration Management -- ONGOING (Roth)

- SNDK 21.56% at +147.3%: trim stands (next window on a 1,550-1,600 reclaim -- Monday traded 1,525, close but not there).

- STX 15.20% combined at +104.1%: same discipline on reclaim.

- MU +159.5% with 3-manager support: hold full, trail below 910 now effectively below Friday's 932.86 close low... no -- the Aug 24 low 910.43 remains the trail. It has held twice.

Portfolio-Level Observation

August closed with the playbook 4-for-4 on its live calls: Tepper pattern (INTC -13.5%), GEV divergence (now through 900), TEM catalyst-spent fade (60.81 vs 72.69 peak), MU sponsor test (held 910 twice). The only wrong-ish call of the month was ever treating CORZ/CIFR as squeeze candidates before the catalyst rule was forced by them -- the tuition is paid and the rule is now load-bearing. September's open questions, in priority order: (1) does GEV hold 892 or find a floor -- position is small, the discipline matters more than the dollars; (2) does the mega-cap softness extend past Monday; (3) fresh Aug 29 SI settlement -- the single data refresh most likely to change any recommendation; (4) does INTC stage the 95-100 trim bounce or break 87.26 first.
